

Alison Cobra

Alison Cobra is marketing specialist at the University of Calgary Press, where she oversees the complete sales and promotions program. She has over a decade of academic publishing experience across books and journals and is a passionate advocate for knowledge equity.